NINETEEN FIFTY FOUR

FOREWORD

WE PROUDLY PRESENT for your approval the 1954 SUNFLOWER. The staff believes that the seasonal division employed in the make-up of the book will give you a better over-all view of your year in college. Events are pictured in the order of their occurrence and short statements bring to mind their significance.

This year brought the razing of Kellogg Library, the achievements of a new, active administration, the opening of Roosevelt High School, and three seasons filled with activities.

THE ADMINISTRATION was given a King-size New Look with the appointment of Dr. John E. King to the Presidency of Emporia State. After one school year, the consensus of students and faculty is: On him, the job looks good.

One of Dr. King's first acts was to appoint a planning committee. Most of E-State's teaching facilities will accommodate 2,000 students. Area and census studies indicate this figure will be the approximate enrollment of E-State some nine or ten years hence. Work of the committee: To blueprint an expanded E-State campus so that growth toward the ultimate goal will be orderly and controlled, assuring the students of maximum service.

With a sympathetic Board of Regents and a legislature aware of Kansas' educational needs, E-State's future is assured.

IN MEMORIAM

At the close of the year, the students and faculty of Emporia State mourned the passing of Dr. Dale Zeller, professor of education. Dr. Zeller had served on the faculty for 32 years, having first come to the campus in 1922. She was nationally known as an authority in elementary education. Her passing means the loss of a brilliant teacher, and a true friend to those who knew her.

While a small scale national debt was added up by Greek girls, sixty-four impressed rushees went twice around the world with Alpha Sigs and Tri Sigs, once to outer space with Pi Kaps, nightclubbing with the Alpha Taus, gardening with the Delta Sigs and soon awakened to find that they were lowly pledges.

However, feminine punch and cookies, masculine smokers, and administrative headaches soon gave way to tabulation of hours, smothering classes, and the same old instructors. Pledges fell heir to duties, and actives gave advice on pud courses and easy instructors.

Two weeks of freedom and the bull pen was up, paddles were down, curtains went up on Curli-Q tryouts, and skirts were neither up nor down. Phi Sig girls formed the "Euie" club and Kinsey was on the tongue—reactions varying from mild disapproval to more violent counteraction.

Faculty teas gave a chance to "polish the apple," but after four consecutive Sunday afternoons of sorority teeing, they became endurance tests, with only a few surviving the Delta Sig, Alpha Tau, and Tri Sig to attend the Alpha Sig on October 11.

always time for parties

Between lab school open house, a debate tour, and first homecoming plans, parties still managed to come first on the E-State coeds' list of importants and Danny Baker and John Notheis entertained Tekes and their dates at "Party Time" given in honor of the pledges. At the same time, Yale made a survey of the drinking problem.

The radio station, dressed up with a new antenna and new call letters, came on the air, even though no one could tune them in and Hornets entertained their long-time rivals with a 21-0 victory for Washburn.

in spite of this, classes must go on

In addition to extra-curricular activities, Hornets still took time out from a busy schedule to attend classes, leaving behind dorm mates, sorority sisters and fraternity brothers, room and board sharers, and wives and children. Practice teaching still took its 18 hours of "busy work" in the lab school in spite of an extended campaign against it and the Registration office had its usual run of drops, changes, and substitutes.

Roosevelt High, newly completed and moved-into, gave the only incentive to those in Educ. 90, but in spite of this, many took over classes downtown after a change of policy.

take advantage of the 15-minute break allowed by the State.

Employment ranged from editing the Bulletin to running a sewing machine, Deweying cards to painting sets, and from grading papers to sweeping the auditorium. And thus it is that Emporia State's students learn while working, even if it is only how much

Carl Hoffmans undertook the job of equipping and setting up a darkroom for the publicity and publications departments and with strict control doled out film and pictures with a limit per customer.

Beanies took a head start in labeling Freshman, who later learned to walk on the side-walks and date upperclassmen. Thinking it a joke, many changed their minds after a session in the Union with "Tiny".

Curli-Q began to get that put-together look and everyone spent afternoons painting in basements for Homecoming front porches.

Arkansas State vs. Emporia State

The Welchmen scored 19, but the Ark State Indians made 38, and the Drum and Bugle Corps entertained at the half. Defeat didn't dampen spirits at the varsity dance following the game, however. Music was furnished by the Counts, and those long sighs of relief were by the Student Council.

Club members showed their prowess and were as tough as they thought after a sideline of loyal rooters witnessed their victory. Frosh President Jim Johnson went away red faced after stating they would "show" the club, and his deflated classmates resolved not to try mutiny again.

After a "round the world" spree, Alpha Sigma Alpha pledged twelve hopefuls, and made big plans for a display of Darwin's Theory for Homecoming. Jo Kirk and Ruth Staton were honored as attendants in the vie for Homecoming Queen.

The Christmas season found the Alpha Sigs at the Country Club for their annual Snowball formal.

After strenuous practices, they were rewarded with second place in the Singing Bee, singing "With a Song in My Heart."

Climaxing an eventful year, a colonial Spring formal was held at the Broadview in April with entertainment by the pledges.

In December, the Home Economics Club had ten needy children as guests at a Christmas party. The State College Club Convention was held at Topeka in March.

AFTER the whirl of rush week, Alpha Sigma Tau members settled down to a semester of studies, and plans for Homecoming decorations. The Alpha Taus were the new owners of the first place plaque with the theme of "Hornets on the Loose to Sting the Gorillas," for their decorations. Alice Mae Clark was nominated for Homecoming queen.

The Alpha Taus took a "Sleigh Ride" at their winter formal, and were in "Tau Heaven" at their spring formal.

Members in campus activities were Marilyn Olson, Betty Lewick, Bonnie Knapp, in Pi Omega Pi; and Wanda Barb in Xi Phi and Student Council.

The fall semester flew with members of Delta Sigma Epsilon redecorating their rooms, having rush week, and working on Homecoming decorations.

The Delta Sigs are becoming more sports minded as they went out for intramurals for the first time in several years.

Well represented in major stage productions, the Delta Sigs had Shirley Temple and Jan Lehman in "Little Foxes"; and Phyllis Gould and Jan Lehman in "The Innocents."

Shirley Temple was elected vice-president of the freshman class; and Sharon Winters was secretary-treasurer of the sophomore class.

After balancing the books and reviewing Roberts' rules, Mrs. Clerisse, national Vice-President, inspected the chapter in November and was guest speaker at the opening session of the Panhellenic Workshop.

December found the pledges hosting at an informal party for the actives and all attended the annual Christmas breakfast.

"I Love Paris" was the theme of their impressive dinner-dance at the Broadview Hotel.

TRI SIGS ENTERTAIN DURING FIRST SEMESTER RUSH WEEK

418 WEST TWELFTH

Sigma Sigma Sigma began the fall semester by adorning sixteen women with the triangle pledge pin. Homecoming was the next major event with the Tri Sigs claiming Miss Peggy Pedagog, Betty Kippenberger, and the second place decoration award for the gorilla-propelled ship.

During the Yuletide season, they decorated the Country Club for their pledge formal, "Santa's Toyshop."

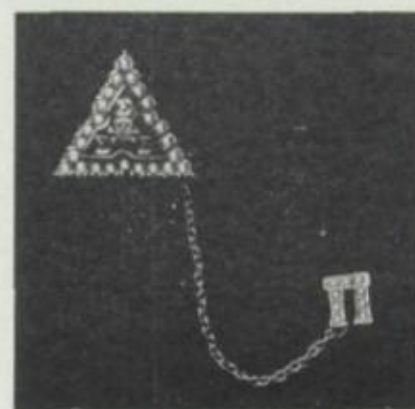

This year brought a number of honors to members of Sigma Sigma Sigma. Pledge to Xi Phi were Margaret Rose, Jackie Vigola, Mary Keith Riegle, and Pat Waldron. Pat also was listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

dates, under the huge heart gracing the center of the ballroom.

A scholarship cup was given at the Honors Convocation to the sorority with the highest grade average. This tradition was revived to stimulate interest in scholarship.

In an effort to promote good relationships between the sororities on campus, and to discuss problems common to all, the Panhellenic Council sponsored an all-day workshop in November, spotted with meetings of various officers, general sessions, and a luncheon. Mrs. George Clerisse, National Vice-President of Pi Kappa Sigma was the keynote speaker, with national officers of Alpha Sigma Tau, Sigma Sigma Sigma, and Alpha Sigma Alpha also present.

The annual Panhellenic Valentine formal was dubbed the "Sweetheart Swing," in keeping with the season and several were caught with the Valentine spirit, or their

THE Inter-Fraternity Council was composed of two members from each fraternity with Dr. V. T. Trusler, Dean of Men, as sponsor.

The big issue of the year was in dealing with the new nine-week pledging rule that was approved last Fall. The rule stated that at the close of each nine-week period there would be two days of open pledging, with no rush parties. This spring, however, the rule was revoked and the fraternities will revert to one rush week a semester as previously done. The nine-week method was used for only two semesters.

The annual Inter-Fraternity Spring Formal was held in the Student Union Ballroom with the music furnished by the Counts for members of the five social fraternities and their dates. This formal was made possible by the willing cooperation of all the fraternities.

The Chief aim of the Council was to promote friendly relations among the Greeks as well as between the Greeks and Independents.

As the new dormitory was in its second year of use, the freshmen girls obtained the privilege of living in it with eight resident assistants guiding them.

They took first place in bowling in the intramural program and participated in all the other intramural activities. The upperclassmen dormitory and the freshmen dormitory combined their efforts in giving informal parties, formals, and banquets.

Of course, with this many girls, placing signs on doors, playing golf in the halls, and telling jokes were common practices. Those all night gab sessions will never be forgotten. They could always watch TV, play cards or listen to records in the Bamboo Room. When the girls were hungry, they prepared a snack in the kitchenette, just off the Bamboo Room. With the intercommunication system, the girls could be paged in any part of the dormitory; and with eight telephones, they could easily be reached at all times.

As Margaret Rutz, a freshman, said, "Morse Hall was truly an inspiring home in which to reside my freshman year."

OPEN to anyone interested, Winnetaska is the independent group for women. They opened the first semester with a get-acquainted party which included a "Sloppy Joe" picnic in Wilson Park and a circus.

At meetings, Winnetaska had several guest speakers. At Homecoming time, alumni found Corky serving "Gorilla Burgers." Following the Homecoming festivities the Winnies' spare time was spent in preparation for the Y-Sing, and toys were sent to the State Orphans Home in Atchison at Christmas.

Spring found the girls busy on a project of making scrapbooks for children. An informal party in the form of the annual "Puff Pam Prom" was held. Members and their dates were clothed in the traditional "Puff Pam" costumes.

Ruth Ireland, the Winnies' candidate for Miss Emporia State, gave a rendition of a "Tutti-Fruitti." It symbolized a typical co-ed's life during the week. And, of course, the happiness for the Friday which never seems to come.

At the Penny Carnival where the proceeds go to the Community Chest, the students had a chance to get revenge on their teachers at the Winnies' Doll Throw. This certainly went over big with all those students who feel rather strongly about some of their teachers.

MARRIAGE COUNSELOR
POPENOE INFORMALLY
WITH INGWERSON

winter is here

Winter came in with all its glory, though apparently it went unnoticed on campus. With the first weeks, however, came a visit from marriage counselor Popenoe who rendered a few words to the wise, stressing institutions, with special emphasis on the family.

officials put to test

Northwest Oklahoma scored a hit and the audience scored the officials in a close contest. Featured in the Christmas concert the following week were 75 blended voices accompanied by a string ensemble and a brass quartet. Thus, the holiday season began and parties and festivities were soon to follow.

the bowery, the bowery

Prior to this, however, was the Teke traditional blast, the Bowery, which revived the "roaring twenties" down to the last flapper.

sweepstakes on the menu for debaters

Amid this confusion, veteran debaters left the home field for their annual three-day Ada trip and came home with the sweepstakes. Pi Kaps entertained their dates with "Balloons in the Snow" as their winter formal theme and the fun had by all was not debatable. At this time, it was rumored that The Innocents were taking up residence in the Auditorium and would soon come out in the open.

Alpha Sigs and Tri Sigs opened the winter season formally at the Country Club, but ran competition with others for the same dates. Tri Sigs welcomed dates and sponsors to "Toyland" and called on pledge talent to present "Santa's Toy Shop." Alpha Sigs sponsored traditional "Snowball" and presented each guest with a brimful stocking filled with goodies and thoughtful reminders of their personalities.

MEMBERS of the Student Council came back refreshed early in September to conduct and oversee Freshman Orientation Week. For Homecoming, the Council sponsored Ray McKinley and his band at a well-attended Homecoming Dance at the Civic Auditorium. This proved very profitable, as it had the previous year.

Student Council sponsored an all-school dance each month, with a get-acquainted dance at the opening of the fall semester, as well as having each class sponsor some project during the year and report its success to the Council. These projects included providing prospective students' names for contact, distribution of surplus annuals to Kansas high schools, and all-school parties.

Revision of the constitution was finally made public after two years of effort of Councils. It was also debated at this time as to whether our Student Council should join the ranks of the National Student Association, but after a persuasive talk by Paul Reaume, President of the Student Council of the College of Emporia, the polls were opened and the move was voted in.

With Jack Fiedler as chairman of the arrangements, the Student Council again sponsored a Penny Carnival in the spring, with the various social organizations providing the booths and attractions for the evening.

Weekly meetings were held to lend an ear to student gripes, and to deal with social, recreational, athletic, budgetary, and governmental problems peculiar to our campus. At the close of the year, members reviewed their shortcomings and accomplishments and were pleased.

The Yuletide season was a busy one for Kappa Phi. They had a Christmas party for the Spanish children of the Spanish Methodist Church. Tray favors, a tree, and wall decorations were sent to the Veterans Hospital in Topeka. Kappa Phi girls helped at the annual Women's Society of Christian Service Conference by serving tables, making decorations, singing in the choir and ushering.

In co-operation with other campus activities, Kappa Phi sponsored a Freshman coke hour, Dr. Howard Yader's visit to the campus, and Religious Emphasis Week.

Representatives of Kappa Phi attended several conferences: National Methodist Student Movement, State Methodist Student Conference, National Kappa Phi Council, and State Kappa Phi Conference.

NIGHTLY SOJOURNS AT MUSIC HALL GIVES THAT INFORMAL LOOK

Singing Bee anticipation

Spring brought trying practices as social organizations "tried" for top honors at the Fourteenth Annual Singing Bee, sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha, honorary men's music fraternity. The possibility of winning a new trophy spurred the women's groups to work out elaborate lighting systems, identical costumes, and last but not least, expert performance of chosen songs. Men also were eager to recapture the trophy housed for a year at the Sig Tau house.

Music Hall was the scene of many informal practices in anticipation of the Bee, which is traditionally one of the biggest musical events on campus. Attendance was good, as members found the fine a price too high to pay.

TROPHY TO DIRECTOR WALDRON

"I Talk to the Trees"

At last the long awaited night arrived and after a hustle backstage and a few preliminary numbers by Phi Mu Alpha, the audience hushed, and the curtain went up on the members of Phi Sigma Epsilon, led by Jesse Kadel, number one entrants in the Singing Bee. In addition to their sweetheart song, they sang "I Talk to the Trees."

"With a Song in My Heart"

Second place winners, and also second on the program was Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority singing "With a Song in My Heart" and a revised sweetheart song, led by song leader Pat Swiercinsky. Out to defend their title, they dropped to second rank, however.

"Through the Trees"

Sigma Phi Epsilon, ranking second in the men's division, placed third on the program with "Through the Trees" and "Count Your Blessings," directed by Murray Farr.

"Lover, Come Back to Me"

Pi Kappa Sigma stepped into the limelight with a lovely rendition of "Lover, Come Back to Me," directed by Betty Young.

"Blue Moon"

Led by Bruno Doganieri, the TKEs brought their "Teke Serenade" to the stage, singing "Blue Moon."

"Dancing in the Dark"

After intermission, the audience heard Alpha Sigma Tau, led by Lee Draper, vocalizing on the well-loved "Dancing in the Dark."

Following close behind were the winning Sigma Taus, who claimed full possession of their trophy with "Like a Mighty Eagle" and "The Halls of Ivy." Their director—Dale Seacat.

"In the Still of the Night"

The lights were dimmed and the curtain went up on Delta Sigma Epsilon, singing "In the Still of the Night," directed by Marilyn Clevenger.

"The Whiffenpoof Song"

Members of Alpha Kappa Lambda went sentimental on their rendition of "The Whiffenpoof Song." Bob Haigh directed.

"Fools Rush In"

Last, but not tops, in the women's division were the Tri Sigs, who added a professional touch to "Fools Rush In," which added a bright, shiny trophy to their collection. Director Pat Waldron was on hand to receive it.

Between numbers, entertainment was provided by the pledges of Phi Mu Alpha.

After a short session of counting, much improved over previous methods, the winners were announced to an eager audience and the curtain fell on the Fourteenth Singing Bee.

Weede in Concert

Robert Weede, noted baritone, and former star of "Great Moments in Music," closed the entertainment series season with a concert beginning with operatic arias and ending with several semi-classical numbers.

After adding fourteen pledges to the roster of Alpha Kappa Lambda, the fall semester was busy with the pledge sneak, parties, and the annual pledge formal.

Marilyn McGill of Alpha Sigma Alpha was crowned "Pledge Princess" to reign over the pledge formal.

In March, the chapter house was transformed into an early twenties speakeasy for the annual "Go to Hell with AKL" party.

Overseeing the political scenes of E-State was AKL Don Ingwerson, President of the Student Council.

Twenty-one men were pledged during the year.

In intramurals, the Phi Sigs won first in football and basketball, third in tennis, and tied for first in volleyball and bowling.

Aside from sports, their first semester formal was "Moonlight Serenade," and of course, the never-to-be-forgotten Farmer's Ball in the spring.

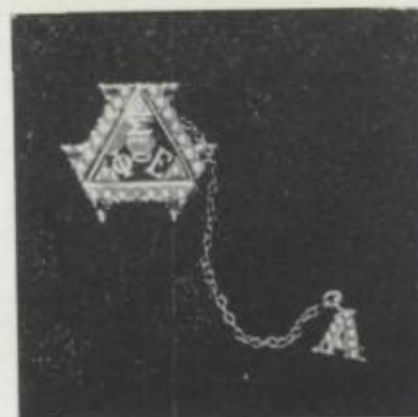

Phi Sigs in campus activities were Darrell Whistler in Student Council and Xi Phi and Bill Scriven, President of Phi Mu Alpha.

Homecoming arrived, alums returned, and Taus won the first place trophy in house decorations with "Spook the Gorillas."

Singing Bee rolled around and the Taus, directed by Dale Seacat, placed first. This was the second consecutive year for winning, so the trophy belongs to them permanently. The annual White Rose Formal and the 49'er party completed the year.

Tau Kappa Epsilon began the school year by redecorating parts of the house. Exhibiting these new decorations, the Bowery Party was held at the chapter house. Joey Kline of Delta Sigma Epsilon was Bowery Queen. During the Fall, Homecoming arrived, and the Tekes won second place with "A Study in 3-D."

The Tekes added something new to fraternity serenades by backing their musical numbers with a "traveling combo." Friday afternoon coffee hours were initiated on the campus by the Tekes.

Bruno Doganieri, Arliss Burns, and Jack Fiedler were members of Xi Phi.

INFORMALS BACKSTAGE BEFORE PHI MU—SCHMUTZ CONCERT

EMPORIA STATE MEN'S CHORALE

THE Emporia State Men's Chorale consisted of Phi Mu Alpha members and anyone interested in music tried out with the group.

The Chorale, under the direction of Professor Schmutz, made several tours of Kansas throughout the year. They performed in front of large audiences in Marion, McPherson, Salina, Abilene, Junction City, Manhattan, Wamego, and St. Marys. On their second tour, they went to Topeka, Highland Park, Florence, Newton, Mound Ridge, Peabody, Cottonwood Falls, El Dorado, Augusta, and Plainview at Wichita. This group sang before 8,000 people during the year, averaging 450 per program.

They presented a home concert in the spring, after all the tours. The Chorale also sang here at the Principals Conference.

(Women's Honorary Music)

Sigma Alpha Iota joined Phi Mu Alpha in sponsoring the Music Hall Mixer. Then, after weeks of noon-hour rehearsals, members welcomed their Province President.

During the year, SAI held receptions for Senior members who gave recitals. Jackie Vigola was President.

TREBLE CLEF

(Women's Music)

Comprised of twelve members, Treble Clef entertained at the faculty dinner, at the Christmas Convocation, and for Religious Emphasis Week. Christmas caroling and singing at recitals was also on the agenda for this group. Several tours were conducted.

SYMPHONIC CHORUS

SIXTY voices under the direction of Professor Schmutz rang out at many public appearances this year. The Symphonic Chorus sang in the sixth annual Curli-Q show. They sang the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" in a blue background that was very impressive. The girls wore all white while the boys wore dark suits.

The members all wore robes at the annual Religious Vesper Service at Christmas time. During second semester, they were very busy working on the Elijah which was presented in the spring. Again, the girls were all in white while the boys were in dark suits. The Elijah featured guest soloists from New York.

The choir brought melodic tones to a smooth cadenza and sustained it until the end of school. Practicing of this group could be heard every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday in the afternoon in the Music Hall Auditorium. The sounds carried across the campus during the springtime, making everyone wish he were in the chorus.

BAND

THE beating of drums announced the first appearance of the K.S.T.C. band as it paraded at the football games. On Band Day, the members were hosts to students from thirty-three high school bands that participated in the celebration.

During the spring, the band members were found quite busy, touring North Central Kansas presenting concerts in Marysville, Washington, Belleville, Mankato, and Minneapolis. A formal concert was given in Emporia in May.

Several new instruments were purchased for the band this year. Two new basses and a percussion section which included a bass drum, two concert drums, and two field drums seemed to fill the bill.

Dorothy Libben and Robert Haigh served as librarians, and Dr. Hendricks directed.

MEMBERS of the Emporia State Orchestra worked hard all year preparing for their concerts. Under the direction of Leopold Liegl, the orchestra presented a concert in December featuring Edwin Stuntzner as cello soloist. The orchestra played selections from Beethoven, Bach, Boccherini, and Handel.

The annual spring symphonic concert had only movements from symphonies played and sung. Soloists in this concert were John Vander Velde, Piano; Mary Dotson, Violin; Gary Duncan, French Horn; Jacqueline Vigola, Oboe; Stanley Avery, Piano; Mary Ruth Dillman, Clarinet; Jackie Hicks and Kay Schmitt, Cellists; Pat Waldron, Soprano; and Philip Keller, Piano. Finale of the concert in G-minor by Mendelssohn was a brilliant and spirited movement in old Rondo form. It was virtuosic in character, and possessed a lilting melody and rhythmic flavor which appealed to both performer and audience.

Students and faculty members find the orchestra an outlet for their talents if they are interested in music. Music from modern composers as well as from the symphonic repertoire was usually played. The orchestra is certainly not audience shy as it performed before the public many times.

Future Teachers of America, with an increased membership of 121, actively participated in several group projects.

The organization was fortunate in having the Director of Field Programs for the KSTA, as well as Dr. Merritt Sanders and Alex Daughtry from the campus, as speakers.

One of the highlights of the year was a chartered bus trip to the Boys' Industrial School at Topeka that enabled them to study the educational program of a special school.

Representatives attended a meeting held in April at Wichita in an effort to organize FTA on a statewide basis.

A May banquet honored those who will be entering the teaching profession in the Fall.

Elementary Club is an organization open to all those interested in elementary education. During the year, meetings were held once a month at which speakers tried to present topics of special interest not covered in the classroom. These speeches were followed by discussion by the members. Mrs. John Notheis, Miss Ruth Stout, Reverend Stephen Williams, Mr. Orville J. Hoch, Dr. Don Davis, Miss Ruth Hanson, and Miss Agnes Engstrand were speakers for this group.

Educational problems were discussed by representatives of the administration, community, and the church as to what is expected of the teacher. Good professional magazines for elementary teachers were criticized and an elementary supervisor spoke on how the state department can help the teacher, as well as the professional standards of certification.

Throughout the year, several social meetings were held in the Student Union with refreshments served afterward. A spring banquet concluded the activities of the club.

Sponsors of the group this year were Miss Ina Borman and Miss Helen Douglass.

EMPORIA State Players is an organization for those interested in stage work, whether acting, crew work, or direction; and for those interested in radio work.

This group participated in the school productions; and while the members work hard, they gain much experience as well as have a good time working together.

In National Collegiate Players, honorary fraternity, were two members this year; they were Beverly Groh and Mary Wylly Matheny.

All the members worked hard backstage, or were in Curli-Q, to make it a success. Several of them participated in the Farm and Home show demonstrating stage make-up.

The annual picnic and speech recognition dinner ended the year. The dinner was for members of Radio Club, Alpha Epsilon Rho, National Collegiate Players, and Emporia State Players. Here, recognition was given to those outstanding individuals in speech.

KAPPA Delta Pi recognizes outstanding contributions to the field of education and strives to maintain a high degree of professional fellowship within the group.

Members are selected from the upper twenty-five per cent of the junior and senior classes. Factors taken into consideration in selecting new members are professional promise, high scholastic standing, personality, and ability to express thoughts and ideas.

The initiation banquet in the spring was one of the highlights of the year for Kappa Delta Pi. George Harrison of the Education Department was the principal speaker.

Also in the spring, Iota Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi sent Belva Ames as its official representative to the national convention held at Purdue University.

This organization stimulates high professional, intellectual, and personal standards. Dr. Harry Waters was counselor during the year.

IN A MERGER with the Business Club last summer, FBLA became the departmental club of the business department. Approximately sixty students were on the rolls of the organization.

A field trip to Kansas City in the winter to visit the Board of Trade and the Federal Reserve Bank was one of the highlights of the year. Another major event was the annual Pi Omega Pi and FBLA Banquet in the spring.

Melba Ernst, State Corresponding Secretary for the year, was elected to the office of State Vice-President for the year 1954-55 at the second annual state convention held on the KU Campus. Thirteen FBLA members and their sponsor, Mr. Maxwell, also state sponsor, attended this convention.

Other projects of the year included serving as a courtesy group for the Business Education Clubs of Kansas Convention, assisting Pi Omega Pi in a departmental picnic for new business students, and presenting a skit outlining the aims and objectives of the club to the Dodge City High School students.

Pi Omega Pi members sponsored the Sixth Annual Business Education Conference on April 10, which brought high school seniors and college students from all parts of the state to hear representatives of the School of Education at New York University and a representative of the National Cash Register Company lead discussions on the problems of business machines.

Later in the year, they visited Boeing, Cudahy Meat Packing Plant, and the Coleman Corporation of Wichita.

Alums were guests at a coffee hour and a get-acquainted picnic was held for business students.

Culminating the year's activities was the publication of Mu Pi Omegan, annual publication of the organization, and the yearly Pi Omega Pi banquet.

VAPOR locks, lost evidence, stale jokes and a limited budget plagued the year for the debaters and Coach Masten; however, the year bore its share of wins and trophies.

Fraternity activities were a far-cry from the speaking podium; they pasted favors and planned dinner for visiting high school debaters; acted as time keeper or errand boys for the E-State sponsored tournament; hosted high school guests in the spring; and co-operated with their colleagues, Alpha Epsilon Rho and E-State Players, to make plans for the Speech Recognition Dinner.

Sigma Pi Sigma is open to anyone interested in yelling at games. The members sold programs at football and basketball games throughout the year. They also served in the president's box at half-time of football games.

"Hit it again" led this group with Norma Neff, Jean Davis, Cheryl Purkey, Shirley Gross, and Kenneth Martinez as cheerleaders.

With an attempt to study Industrial Art problems of every day life and to promote interest in the field, Epsilon Pi Tau carried on the tradition of mounting and producing the plaques for the every-pupil scholarship contest. In addition to this activity, they also made miniature anvil paperweights bearing the letters KSTC for the Extension Division, which met in April.

In October, the members trekked to Pittsburg one bright, early morning to attend the Four State Regional Industrial Arts Conference.

Installation of four new members succeeded in taking the members away from the work-shop April 24. The initiation was held in the Student Union and a banquet in honor of the new members was held immediately following at the Little Kastle Grill. Dr. King was the guest speaker.

GETTING a late start, staff members of The Bulletin strained and strove to give students a larger, more picturesque newspaper. The result—higher on quantity, lower on quality—second place award in ACP ratings. Pride of the first semester was the ten-page Homecoming issue—largest in recent years. Hal Cannon and Norma Willson were at the helm, assisted by Leonard Sowers, Lona Mc-Nutt, Richard Hawk, Beverly Groh, and John Sackman. Arliss Burns and Jack Fiedler handled the books.

With the start of second semester, Cannon kept bawling. Assistant editors were Norma Willson, Richard Hawk, Millard Denny, John Kloefkorn, Pat Murphy, and Carl Hoffmans. No excitement until the paper stirs the political pot, then wow!

AFTER the first layouts were made, the staff of The Sunflower settled down to routine tasks. After choosing a three-division plan, and trying to forget the juicy $1400 debt, The Sunflower began to bloom again.

With the able assistance of the Assistant, Sharon Winters, who wrote all the copy for organizations, time could be spent on planning.

Due to the inefficient help of the studio contracted to take pictures, the deadlines arrived with many pictures completely missing from the files.

At mid-semester, the typing staff of Bonnie Fritz, Jerri Wakefield, Mary Jo Ormsby, Joyce Greider, Merriam Wilson, Barbara Holm, Imarie Blosser, Verlene Sobke, Anita Dalquest, and Pat Murphy began the long trek of beating out page-by-page copy.

As an encore to the first Miss Emporia State Contest, Joyce Greider assumed the responsibility of staging the choosing of Hoori Besharat as the annual queen on March 24. Pat Waldron was runner-up.

Judy Teichgraeber undertook the job of designing the cover, and Editor, Nancy Fate, was on hand to oversee the work of all.

Pictures were taken by Phil Emery, Carl Hoffmans, and John Dillon, and Jack Fiedler plagued the townspeople for ads, as part of his job as Business Manager.

K-CLUB, as a tradition, began the year by plopping bright yellow beanies on the heads of all Freshmen, who felt embarrassed, but felt the paddle if refusing to wear them. Traditionally, also, a bull pen was set up in the rotunda for those not cooperating.

At Homecoming, the K-Club welcomed their alums and the usual bull fest with the returning lettermen followed.

K-Club served as host to guest teams and coaches during the year, and acted as doormen, ushers, and program sellers for the athletic contests.

The athletic group instigated a new-type all school party. It was named the "K-Club Street Dance," and was the first of its kind on the campus.

Initiates this year were Bill Anderson, Marvin Buss, Jim Fulton, John Hufford, Carol Leitner, Jack Ring, and Jim Roberts.
